

Sodexo Motivation Solutions
Comprehensive Incentives and Recognition

Your best employees are the heart of your organization. They are the assets that create your success. The more they're inspired and motivated, the more you both succeed. But just how this is done is important—especially in times of rapid change. Today, businesses and organizations are reappraising traditional ways to motivate, recognize and reward employees. And they're rediscovering an old truth: engaged employees really do make a difference. Employees who are engaged in their work are more dedicated, productive and valuable to any organization.

Sodexo is a worldwide leader in motivation solutions. We offer small and large organizations comprehensive and tailored incentive and recognition programs intended to encourage and reward performance. We understand that attracting the best employees, creating loyalty, motivating and rewarding them is a key challenge for any organization. To help address this challenge, we leverage our experience and expertise to design effective motivation solutions.

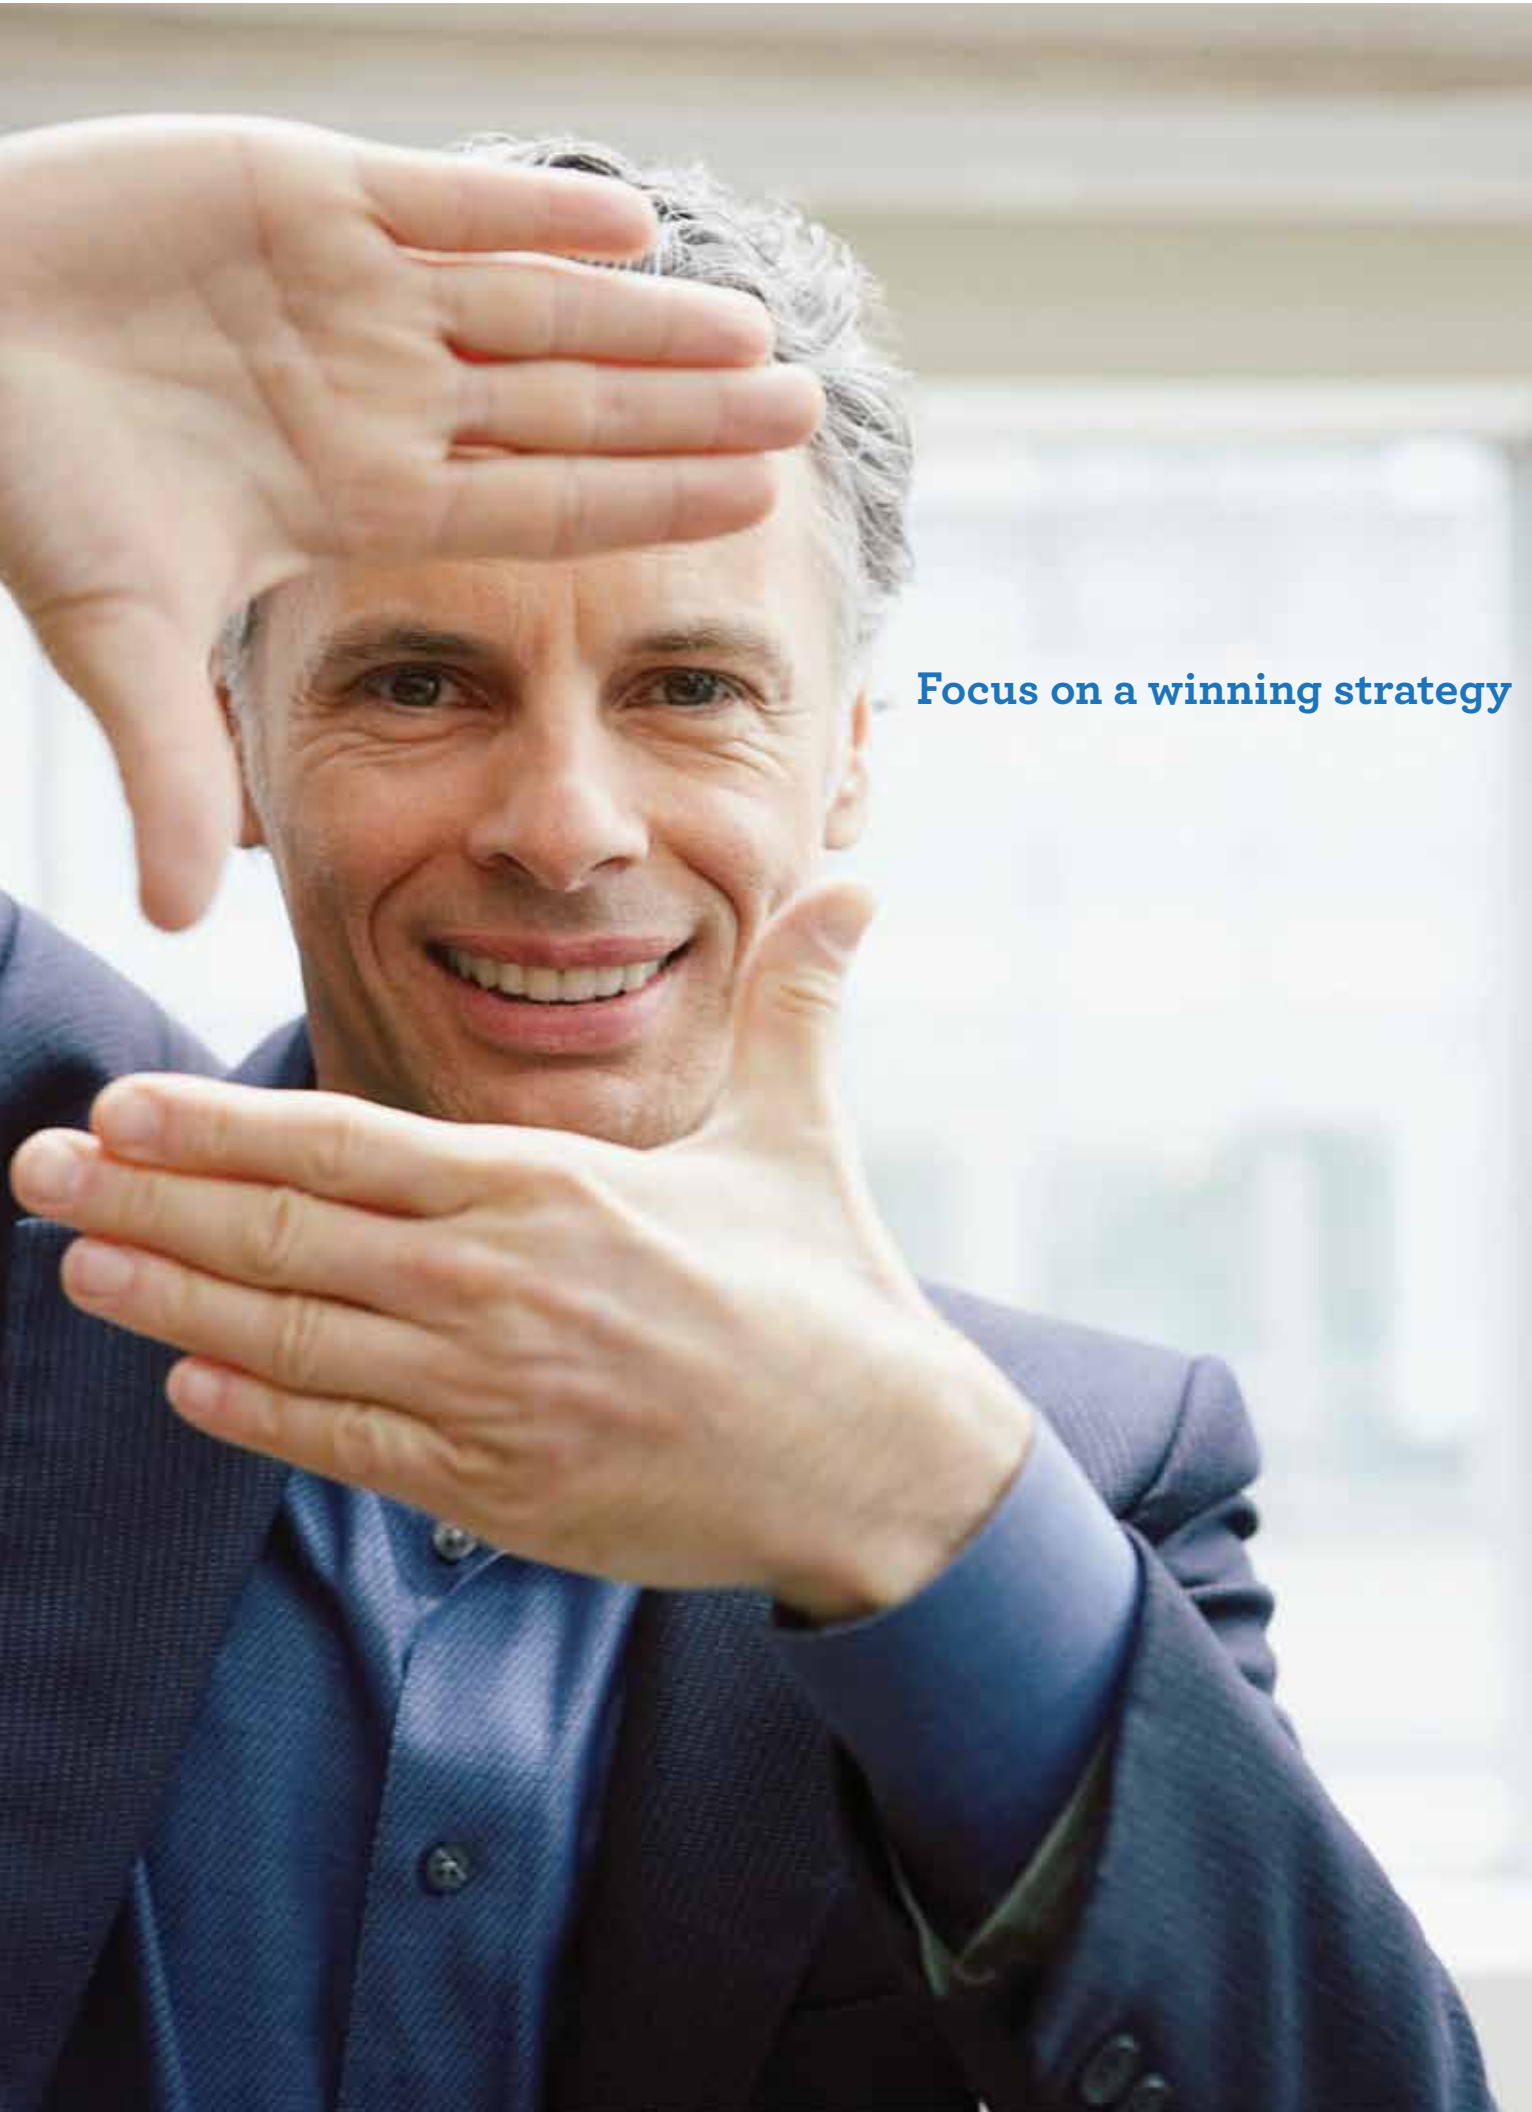

Successful motivation solutions are:

- » Strategic: aligned with corporate goals and values.
- » Comprehensive: they include low, middle and high performers.
- » Managed: simple and efficient, well-communicated, tracked and measured.

We value every opportunity to work hand-in-hand with an organization to design, manage and deliver incentive and recognition programs that help achieve its qualitative and quantitative business objectives.

We look forward to an opportunity to partner with you.

Focus on a winning strategy

There is no greater asset to any organization than its human capital. We'll help you develop a winning strategy to inspire and grow that essential asset.

As organizations of all sizes have recently discovered, successful incentive and recognition programs work best when they create a culture of recognition that permeates the organization at every level. This is most effectively accomplished through the development of a strategy that ties the incentive and recognition program directly to your organization's objectives, mission, vision and values. A strategy that engenders the belief that each and every employee can make a positive contribution to the success of the organization.

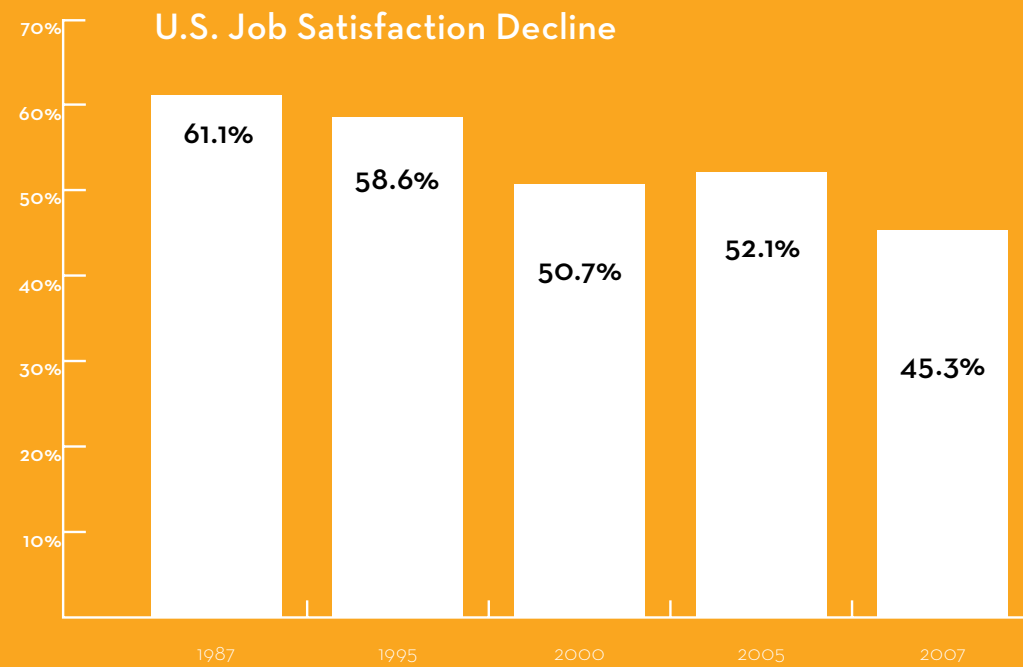

Ability x Opportunity x Motivation = Achievement

It is our conviction that employee motivation, both individually and as a team, is key to the long term growth and success of any organization. Your Sodexo Recognition Specialist will work with you to design a cost-effective, strategic program to build motivation, enhance productivity, and increase the value of your human capital.

Troubling Signs

While current economic troubles attract much of the attention, it's the long-term trends that should be a red flag to employers, according to a report released in January, 2010. A survey of 5,000 U.S. households found that job satisfaction has dropped from roughly 61 percent to about 45 percent over the past 22 years. This is troubling because wide-spread job dissatisfaction negatively affects employee behavior and retention.

“There are a limited number of human capital drivers that will have the most significant influence upon organizational performance in the years immediately ahead. They constitute leadership, engagement, talent management, learning, and innovation.” – Key Trends in Human Capital - A Global Perspective, PricewaterhouseCoopers

Growing the talent pool. If you've ever had the experience of watching a student blossom or helped mentor a promising co-worker, you know the feeling. As people become more engaged in their daily work they become happier and more self-confident, and they spread that feeling around. As one manager recently put it, “One of our program goals was to improve customer service. Sodexo helped us do that with a customized Incentive and Recognition program that was focused on our specific needs and organizational structure.”

The task is to keep your existing top performers motivated while nurturing more candidates to join their ranks. Experience shows that it can be done—and at less cost than many people suppose. That's because it turns out that while pay and cash rewards are important, what most of us really want—what motivates and builds our enthusiasm on a continuing basis—is genuine recognition. Recognition for a job well done; recognition for high achievement; and recognition for our skills, effort and enthusiasm.

The more engaged we are in a task, the better we tend to do. This applies to everyone, not only superstars. All too frequently, recognition and reward programs are developed in an ad-hoc manner for short-term goals, with little or no attempt to integrate the program with the organization's values, culture or unique requirements. In contrast, Sodexo's approach to partnering allows us to develop and create programs customized for the specific needs and culture of your organization.

Sodexo's certified Recognition Specialists provide comprehensive expertise to Design, Manage and Deliver motivation strategies that work for your organization for the long term.

Our Approach

- » Discover: Listen to your needs and goals, learn about your culture and understand your mission, vision, values and objectives.
- » Design: Provide recommendations and work with you to develop motivation strategies and the programs to support.
- » Manage: Support the implementation and operation of your program. Monitor your program's performance with a Web-based management system for improved effectiveness.
- » Deliver: Offer an expanding range of choices with rewards, gifts, experiences and non-monetary recognition tools that satisfy each person's needs and wishes.

Motivation is key to an organization's performance. Creating and maintaining motivation is a subtle art because every individual is unique — and so is every organization. That's Sodexo's expertise.

Recognition is an after-the-fact display of appreciation or acknowledgment of an individual's or team's desired behavior, effort or business result that supports the organization's goals and values.

Creative strategies support and impact your investment.

Creative, high-impact strategies ensure that your incentive and recognition program will provide the variety and choice that your employees will appreciate, while simultaneously delivering a return on your human resource investment. In addition, Sodexo's broad portfolio of rewards and recognition tools allows you to create a program that is flexible and "tweakable," allowing you to react quickly to changing societal, market or economic conditions.
